Final announcement

Organized by

Department of Medicine
The University of Hong Kong
Queen Mary Hospital, Hong Kong

The Hong Kong Medical Forum (HKMF) is an annual event organized by the Department of Medicine, the University of Hong Kong. The objective of the HKMF is for Continuing Professional Education (CPE) of different disciplines and subspecialties, through state-of-the-art lectures by local and overseas speakers who are distinguished specialists in their respective fields.

The target audience includes general practitioners, family and specialist physicians, clinicians of other specialties, basic and higher physician trainees, nurses and allied health professionals. The theme for the HKMF this year is "Innovations in Medicine". This year's program aims to provide a comprehensive coverage of practical knowledge pertinent to practitioners of different subspecialties.
